

Internship and requirements at Wale Wale Kenya

Wale Wale Kenya is a Kenyan NGO that has been working with young people in Nairobi for almost ten years. Our mission is to provide tools for young people with which they can build a future. One of the, if not the most important, tool in this process is education, but not only the education taught in school. The awareness of ones rights and value and the confidence to trust ones capabilities are to us other crucial aspects of education. In addition to this, we believe that access to a meaningful spare time and opportunities to develop talents and interest, increases young peoples chances to life enhancement.

Since the beginning of 2013, Wale Wale Kenya runs a Youth Center in one of the largest slum areas in Africa – Kibera. In the center the youths come to study, eat and develop their talents and interests. We seek to assist the youths in their school work through homework support and support of school fees.

As an intern at Wale Wale Kenya, you are offered a qualitative internship with real, hands on development work. You will be helping us in the development of our organisation through your theoretical skills, for instance problem analysis, project planning and evaluation. Fundraising, marketing and administration are other important parts of the working tasks. In 2016 we have a close collaboration together with the French Embassy of Kenya, for this we need help with writing well composed reports and evaluate the different projects. Throughout your internship you will be in close contact with our youths in the everyday work at the center. In other words, the internship puts demands on your theoretical skills as well as your practical and interpersonal skills. We welcome interns all year round for 1 month minimum up to 12 months maximum.

We welcome students in the end of their university education or with skills that in a clear way would contribute to our organisation. Experience from social work or work in other organisations is an advantage but not necessary.

You apply by sending an e-mail to us where you explain why you want to do your internship at Wale Wale Kenya and how you would contribute to our projects. Attach your CV along with references. We read and respond all applications.

Send your application to walewalekenya@gmail.com with the subject Internship.
